

When it stopped raining, Littledrop and her friends slipped under the ground. There, among the rocks, they felt homesick; they wanted to go back to the sea. They took courage and started to walk along dark tunnels.

Print on paper, cut along the dotted line and color!