

A polar bear sat looking into the water under him.
It was mirroring to check to be elegant and well combed for the Christmas party.
At that precise moment, very far from there, at the other side of the world, a small elephant was drinking in a large African lake:
Christmas was also there.
The attention of the bear had been captured by something moving under water: it was something gray, seemed almost a proboscis ...

© Giuliana Donati & Valentina Foruzzi
© Stefano Marini

A mountain of curls of wood just out of the pencil sharpener: how to resist the temptation to blow on it to fly them?
And is there, under the colored crumbs, that is hiding the world of drawings: a true city inhabited by dogs laughing, smiling suns poetic and funny colored men!
But in those days, a terrible threat hanging over that magical world: Mr Cold, envious of all that beauty, wants to bury under a blanket of ice and snow all those beautiful colors. It was John to raise the alarm...

© Giuliana Donati & Valentina Foruzzi

Print the two incipits, fold in half, and insert in the first two envelopes perhaps with a chocolate coin or with what you want!